

Health Education curriculum and instruction for early childhood 幼兒健康領域教材教法

Instructor: Shih. Shing- Shing (phone #)

2 Credits/ 2 hours per week for Undergraduate Year Four students

Course Description:

Pertinent information relative to selected health instructional techniques specifically addressed in preschool setting. Attention to learning activities appropriate for preschool health programs in the kindergarten, health education models, health promotion, and related content-specific issues included in preschool health curricula. Topics will include child nutrition, growth, disease, accident prevention, and safety. Appropriate classroom management and motivational strategies for behavioral modification in health education. Opportunities for classroom teaching experiences with simulate teaching

Course Objectives:

1. Display skills necessary to create and evaluate health education curriculum and instruction in the kindergarten.
2. Recognize contemporary health education concepts and models used by various health education programs.
3. Recognize preschool health appraisal techniques and procedures.
4. Understand the important health problems affecting the kindergarten
5. Display the skills to formulate and apply learning concepts.