

國立光復商工 102 學年度第 1 次教師甄選 英文科 試題卷暨解答

考生注意：

1. 請核對試題卷與桌上之准考證號碼與姓名是否相符。
 2. 試題卷上准考證號碼與姓名不得自行撕毀。
 3. 答案請直接書寫於答案卷上。
 4. 請繳交試題卷及答案卷。
- 違反上述 1~4 者，不予計分。

I. Vocabulary: Choose the answer that is synonymous with the underlined word.

- (D) 1. Our meeting will commence as soon as Mr. Lee arrives with the blueprints.
(A) adjourn (B) continue (C) liven up (D) begin
- (A) 2. Sal is so inept in the kitchen that she doesn't know how to boil water.
(A) incompetent (B) irresponsible (C) reliable (D) talented
- (B) 3. Tulip bulbs lay dormant during the winter and bloom in the spring.
(A) planning (B) inactive (C) growing (D) dying
- (D) 4. For literature class, we have to read twelve poems from this poetry anthology.
(A) novel (B) epic (C) genre (D) collection
- (A) 5. Teachers like to have docile students in their class.
(A) obedient (B) intelligent (C) outgoing (D) aggressive
- (B) 6. The ordeal of being trapped inside an elevator with a visiting dignitary was very embarrassing.
(A) chance (B) tribulation (C) glorification (D) surprise
- (C) 7. The government tried to appease the revolutionary peasants by guaranteeing local elections.
(A) oppose (B) betray (C) placate (D) organize
- (C) 8. Don't leave the door ajar or the cat will come inside.
(A) agape (B) closed (C) unlocked (D) broken
- (A) 9. Heredity determines the color of your eyes and hair.
(A) congenital traits (B) hair designers (C) your personality (D) latest fashion
- (D) 10. Each person should be treated as an individual entity, not as a small part of a larger whole.
(A) thought (B) center (C) idea (D) being
- (B) 11. People were afraid that without international intervention, the nation would slip into anarchy.
(A) oblivion (B) mess (C) fiasco (D) poverty
- (A) 12. Fighting among members led to a rift in the political party, which resulted in its decreased influence.
(A) split (B) cohesion (C) debate (D) resolution
- (A) 13. The large soda manufacturer's monopoly of the market kept other soft drink companies from forming.
(A) exclusive possession (B) immediate attention
(C) conclusive suggestion (D) nominal devotion
- (B) 14. They would scrutinize the case and the results will not be out in the open until weeks later.
(A) dismiss (B) investigate (C) appeal (D) prolong
- (D) 15. We passed the evening with wine and convivial conversation.
(A) drunk (B) elusive (C) serious (D) genial
- (A) 16. Professors were glad to elucidate the topic lectured on in class.
(A) explain (B) repeat (C) preview (D) nullify
- (C) 17. After years of hard work, Jay can manipulate any machinery with ease.
(A) break (B) build (C) handle (D) admire
- (C) 18. Susan's advice to travel overseas received a tepid response.
(A) definitive (B) sensitive (C) unenthusiastic (D) positive
- (A/C) 19. Teachers petitioned the Ministry of Education for better pay and smaller class size.
(A) protested (B) bombed (C) entreated (D) criticized
- (C) 20. Economists said it was an overstatement to say that the stock market was overheating.
(A) inaccuracy (B) overture (C) exaggeration (D) plot

國立光復商工 102 學年度第 1 次教師甄選 英文科 試題卷暨解答

II. Please revise the following passage by correcting the mistakes and give comments to help the student make improvements in the future writings. (15%)

Last summer vacation I invited my girlfriend with me went to the playground to see the show of clown The clown was play a role that looked like a stupid guy. But he made people happy any time. And his around fullled with laugh. We also went on a lot of excited rides. The time passed quicklv. In afternoon we said good each other.

III. Please design four comprehension questions according to the following article. There should be four choices in each question. Please mark the correct answer. (20%)

A sense of humor is just one of the many things shared by Alfred and Anthony Melillo, 64-year-old twin brothers from East Haven who made history in February 2002. On Christmas Eve, 1992, Anthony had a heart transplant from a 21-year-old donor. Two days before Valentine's Day in 2002, Alfred received a 19-year-old heart, marking the first time on record that twin adults each received heart transplants.

"I'm 15 minutes older than him, but now I'm younger because of my heart and I'm not going to respect him," Alfred said with a grin, pointing to his brother while talking to a roomful of reporters, who laughed frequently at their jokes.

While the twins knew that genetics might have played a role in their condition, they recognized that their eating habits might have also contributed to their heart problems. "We'd put half a pound of butter on a steak. I overdid it on all the food that tasted good, so I guess I deserved what I got for not dieting properly." The discussion moved to Anthony's recovery. In the five years since his heart transplant, he had been on an exercise program where he regularly rode a bicycle for five miles, swam each day, and walked a couple of miles. He was still on medication, but not nearly as much as Alfred, who was just in the early stage of his recovery.

"Right now I feel pretty young and I'm doing very well," Anthony said. "I feel like a new person." Alfred said his goal, of course, was to feel even better than his brother. But, he added, "I love my brother very much. We're very close and I'm sure we'll do just fine."

IV. Essay (25%)

In our school, everyone has the access to free Wi-Fi. It is common for students to improperly use cell phones in class and even to confront teachers when they are being corrected. What are the probable measures to deal with this misbehavior?